

This shows the scenario of a session being saved to the device's history of treatments database. The user can save either during a session or after a session. If no previous record exist for current session, a new record will be added. Otherwise the existing record will get updated.

